For Bethany O'Neil, interior design isn't just about color palettes, floor plans and furniture. It's about creating environments for living well.

"Every day is a joy. I love my job. And part of that is because I get to know my clients so well."

A hands-on creative force who guides large home projects from new construction to furnishings, Bethany's diverse portfolio ranges from modern to traditional, but always with the same elegant aesthetic that transcends trends and fads.

"I keep color schemes monochromatic, so we can control visual distraction. My designs are timeless."

Originally from the Midwest but in Florida for 13 years, Bethany is often called upon by clients to redesign or remodel several homes because they implicitly trust her sense of style, project management and focus on ensuring functionality as a top priority.

"From paperwork to installation, I'm very hands on. It's so rewarding for me to pull the final touches together and unveil my clients' dreams and aspirations."
